DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dedio 6,702,189, in view of Chudgar 5,293,583. Dedio teaches the claimed vehicle safety system including sensors 36,38,40 and 42 which connect to control device 32 to determine a crash or safety critical status, and further deenergize vehicular devices such as auxiliary heater 12, as claimed. The heater is not disclosed as an electric heater as claimed, but a burner type heater. However, the patent to Chudgar is applied for teaching a vehicle and use of an electric heater in the vehicle as an auxiliary heater. Chudgar thus evidences that auxiliary heaters in vehicles can comprise electric heaters.

Art Unit: 3742

In view of this teaching it would have been obvious to modify the Dedio system to use an electric heater as the auxiliary heater, enabling more versatility in the heating and use of a safer heating . note that Dedio also disconnects other devices in the auto such as fuel supply for the engine, in the event of a crash and the above modification would merely comprise tripping a relay for an electric heater in lieu of tripping a solenoid valve for the heater, well within the skill level of one of ordinary skill in the art. As per claim 4 use of a PTC heater is an obvious choice, such use well recognized in the art for use in vehicles.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 7-09-2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants have amended the claims to define that the emergency cut-off is integrated into the control system of the apparatus. Dedio teach in column 3 lines 48-51 that the auxiliary heater is electronically connected with the solenoid valve and other components. The solenoid valve comprises part of the emergency cut off system and is therefor construed as part of the control system, barring further definition of how or what type of integration is used. Also, conventional vehicles now are computer controlled, which effects control of all vehicle electronic components. For these reasons the rejection is proper and stands and one of ordinary skill in heating and automobile control would have found proper motivation for the modification of Dedio in view of Charger et al, as set forth in the above reference. As per new claim 12 use of a PC is conventionally used in heating controls systems and is well within the level of ordinary skill in the art to use in the modified Dedio control system. Use of air conditioning control as per new claim 14 is likewise obvious and routine for the artisan.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
